

The Word of God¹ at the feast of the Lord's Meeting (Candlemas)²

You should wait for Me, you should receive Me, My people, and you should wait for Me when I come to you. When you know that I come, you should give Me power to come, you should sprinkle with longing on My way, for your longing for God binds the heaven with the earth, My people.

You should welcome Me with longing and you should wait for Me with sighing in your waiting, because it is very hard for the heaven and for the earth without God on earth as word, children from the gates. I find you My gates and by your waiting for Me I find you. I find you with a sighing longing after Me to come and to save you from sufferance, oppressions and waiting, and to set My will on the earth and in man. However, My heaven is so close to the earth, it is so far away from man and the man does not feel My closeness, My walking, My word, My eye after him and My hand ready to remove the distance, which is nothing else but unbelief, not love and not the man's view, because of those that are so close to him and which separate man from God, children sons, watching in the way of My word, which becomes heaven between Me and you, the council of the heaven, the sufferance of the heaven by which I want, sons, to embrace the people of My word to make him feel Me closer to him, for the heaven that is so close to the earth, so truthful on the earth, is so far away from man and the man does not feel Me with him on earth, because he wanders away among the evil spirits, and those are that make the separation between heaven and earth, and these separate Me from My fellowship with the man, from My heavenly living on earth and full of sufferance from man and for man.

Two thousand years ago, I came near to man and I could not be known and loved by man. I could not spend time with the man then either, and only two or three hearts waited for Me and received Me and saw Me and believed Me and loved Me and followed Me and appreciated Me as Messiah, the One sent by the Father to become man on earth, and then to make My disciples after that, and they to be My house on earth. Amen.

My mother, the Virgin, and the old Joseph took Me and dedicated Me after forty days from My birth on earth. They brought a cleaning sacrifice for My birth from the Virgin, for I came to be a man, and to be as close to the man on earth as the heaven is from the earth. But it was not so. The earth was far from heaven and I was not known by the people in the midst of which I was born and grew and I did the work of My father for the people to know that I came out from the Father.

Oh, if the man were faithful as were those who received from the Father by the spirit of prophecy the revelation of the mystery of My coming on earth, I would appear with you in all My glory upon you and I would appear with the heaven so close to the earth, a miracle of new age, a broken light from the Father's being, heaven and earth together working and raising up the kingdom of My heavens upon you, speaking and confessing children of the heaven so close to you. I work with you and upon you within a great mystery, for the man, would not see, as two thousand years ago, and he would not believe or love God, for those who are close to him become a curtain of sufferance between Me and man, and I cannot do anything more before the unbelief, before such a small measure of the man, of his view, of his faith, of his humility and of his longing for God. I hide within My longing for you, in your longing after God on earth and I cry within you, because I have no place where to bow My head on earth and to cry. The one who passes by the cross has no feeling for Me whatsoever; the cross that the man makes it out of wood, stone or iron, and then he imagines that I am there nailed on it, crying and bleeding from man. Oh, the sign by which a nation is Christian is not this, and it is not by this that He has Me, the crucified One, as His God. Oh, sons aggrieved after My coming! It is not only this, it is not only so, that the man should see Me on earth. Who has told him that this means God with the man on earth? Who has told the man that the dwelling places, which are built by man on earth with crosses on it, mean God with the man on earth? (See the selection topic: „The true church³”, r.n.)

Oh, I have come as God born from heaven and from the earth in a place called holy, and still I was not able to live with the man in the image and under the name of God, the Son of the Father Sabaoth, by which I came down on earth to confess Myself by death on the cross and by resurrection, if by the birth from the Virgin I was not received by the people as the Son Who came from God from heaven after the man. Now I have become word on earth, and the clouds of My heaven keep Me with the glory of My word, but I cannot put aside the distance between Me and man, and I cannot because of those that are close to the man and in which the man believes seeing and calling them true, the truth in which the man has been drowning for seven thousand years and he has not got above them to see My face, My glory, and to have the desire to be My glory and that I may be his glory, and both of us to have the same work, the same feeling and gentleness, and that the Father may no longer cry out of My mercy, of My sufferance, of My coming after the man as mysterious God, whispering to the man that I have come to ask him to receive Me, to wait for Me and to believe Me when I tell him that it is hard for the heaven and for the earth without God on earth with the man.

Oh, children who have ears and eyes from Me for God and for His entire heaven! How shall we do with My heaven, so close to the earth, that it may no longer be so far away from man, faithful children on earth? What shall I do with you, how shall I work with you, to be able to give faithful eyes to the man, eyes from heaven? It hurts Me to work with pain upon the man to make him see God with His heaven so close to the earth. When the heaven is glorified, it is glorified on earth, however, this is not possible otherwise but only with plagues, for the man does not love to receive and wait for God.

I have you on earth as My faithful and full of longing ones after My coming in the eyes of man, but I cannot comfort your longing but only with the coming of My affliction over the man, for no one has been waiting for Me to be true and to come, children sons of the faith from above. There has been two thousand years since I proved to the man that I was true and wonderful God, but the man does not love Me and he does not become into My image and after My likeness to see Me, and I cry because of the wrath the man gathers in heaven and which comes back to him on earth. (See the selection topic: „The great tribulation”, r.n.) Oh, only if the man came to you to ask you about love, about My heaven so close to the earth and to the man, I would make a river bed of Holy Spirit between heaven and earth, between those that are seen and those that are not seen, but the man has got ahead of Me with the discoveries of the science, which does not take the place of human life and eternity, and the man lost the gift of the true glory, not made by man, by man's mind and the man has made his eternal place in the science that passes once with its makings that deceive the man. However, you should look at Me, faithful children of the eternal truth, and be the teachers over all those who can teach the face of My glory, the Lord's life on earth carried by the man's body, for every man builds his eternity within his body, and blessed are those who build themselves in the image and after My likeness, according to My word, which blows the Holy Spirit, the Comforter, over you so that it may not be hard on earth for you, for it is hard for the heaven and the earth without God on earth as word.

Oh, My people, do not forget to be holy, for those who feed on the sin and stay like that, hidden in it, these all draw upon themselves everything they have built in their body, and behold a Scripture with a great fulfillment on earth: «Those that are holy are holy still, and those that are filthy are filthy still», (Rev. 22:11) and all follow their own course, and the man remains unfaithful even when he sees the Scriptures being fulfilled under his very eyes, as they are written. Amen.

I have come to write Myself with you in a feast of word to bring to memory the day of two thousand years ago, when I, being a child, kept into the arms of My mother, the Virgin, was given into the arms of the old Simeon, who, not believing in the prophecy, which announced that I would be born of a virgin, after many years of waiting, he came to believe seeing the Son of God, born of a virgin body, and then he was released from the sin of his unbelief.

Oh, My people, I have told you to listen to those who teach you from Me. You should take My word from them that is for you, for they speak from Me and tell you how to listen and how to work. I speak as I can, because I want to protect you, but they give you all My word for you. Amen.

Oh, My people, blessed are and will be those into your midst who listen to God working according to His will. Amen.

Oh, My people, you should receive Me, and you should wait for Me and listen well to Me when I come to you. When you know that I come, you should also give Me power to come and sprinkle longing on My way, for your longing after God binds the heaven with the earth in My work among the angels and the saints for you, for it is very hard without God on earth, My people. Amen, amen, amen.
